FOR THE ASSOCIATE COMMISSIONER,
EXAMINATIONS

Terrance M. O'Reilly, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The application was denied by the Acting District Director, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and is now before the Associate Commissioner for Examinations on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The applicant was born [REDACTED] on July 20, 1977 in Diapholz, Germany to a mother, [REDACTED] and a father, [REDACTED]. On January 4, 1980, the applicant was admitted to the United States as a nonimmigrant visitor. On May 5, 1981, the applicant's status was adjusted to that of a lawful permanent resident based on her classification as the stepchild of a United States citizen, [REDACTED]. The applicant's mother never became a United States citizen.

The applicant indicates on her application that she is eligible for a certificate of citizenship under § 322 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. 1433, because [REDACTED] adopted her in 1982.

The acting district director reviewed the provisions of § 322 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. 1433, regarding the acquisition of a certificate of citizenship for an adopted child who was born outside of the United States. The acting district director stated that the applicant had failed to present evidence that she had been legally adopted by [REDACTED]. The acting district director also noted that, if such documentation exists, there is no evidence that [REDACTED] ever filed the application in her behalf as required. The acting district director concluded that the applicant had not satisfied the regulations relating to this section of the Act and denied the application accordingly.

On appeal, counsel submits a Decree of Adoption reflecting that [REDACTED] was adopted by [REDACTED] on August 25, 1982 in [REDACTED] Pennsylvania, and shall be known as [REDACTED].

As a general rule, all of the laws relating to derivative citizenship require a combination of elements having a simultaneous existence before a son or daughter arrives at a specified age. The sequence in which these elements come into being is immaterial. Determinations involving derivative citizenship are governed by the law in effect when the last material element is completed. See INTERP 320.1(a)(1).

Section 322 of the Act provides, in part, that:

(a) APPLICATION OF CITIZEN PARENTS: REQUIREMENTS.-A parent who is a citizen of the United States may apply to the Attorney General for a certificate of citizenship on behalf of a child born outside the United States. The Attorney General shall issue such a certificate of citizenship upon proof to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that the following conditions have been fulfilled:

(1) At least one parent is a citizen of the United States, whether by birth or naturalization.

(2) The child is physically present in the United States pursuant to a lawful admission.

(3) The child is under the age of 18 years and in the legal custody of the citizen parent.

(4) If the citizen parent is an adoptive parent of the child, the child was adopted by the citizen parent before the child reached the age of 16 years and the child meets the requirements for being a child under subparagraph (E) or (F) of § 101(b)(1).

(5) If the citizen parent has not been physically present in the United States or its outlying possessions for a period or periods totaling not less than 5 years, at least 2 of which were after attaining the age of 14 years-

(A) The child is residing permanently in the United States with the citizen parent, pursuant to a lawful admission for permanent residence, or

(B) A citizen parent of the citizen parent has been physically present in the United States or its outlying possessions for a period or periods totaling not less than 5 years, at least 2 of which were after attaining the age of 14 years.

(b) ATTAINMENT OF CITIZENSHIP STATUS; RECEIPT OF CERTIFICATE.-Upon approval of the application (which may be filed abroad) and, except as provided in the last sentence of § 337(a), upon taking and subscribing before an officer of the Service within the United States to the oath of allegiance required by this Act of an applicant for naturalization, the child shall become a citizen of the United States and shall be furnished by the Attorney General with a certificate of citizenship.

8 C.F.R. 322.2(a) provides that to be eligible for naturalization under § 322 of the Act, a child on whose behalf an application for naturalization has been filed by a parent who is, at the time of filing, a citizen of the United States, must:

(1) Be unmarried and under 18 years of age, both at the time of application and at the time of admission to citizenship;

(2) Reside permanently in the United States, in the physical and legal custody of the applying citizen parent, pursuant to a lawful admission;

(3) Be a person of good moral character, attached to the principles of the Constitution of the United States, and favorably disposed toward the good order and happiness of the United States; a child under the age of 14 will generally be presumed to satisfy this requirement;

(4) Comply with other requirements for naturalization as provided in the Act.... (Emphasis supplied.)

8 C.F.R. 322.2(b)(1) provides, in part, that the definition of "child" for the purposes of this part includes:

(iv) A child who is adopted before the child reaches age 16.

Although the record now reflects that the applicant was legally adopted by a U.S. citizen parent when she was five years old, there is no evidence in the record to show that a petition for naturalization was ever filed in the applicant's behalf by her U.S. citizen parent and approved prior to her 18th birthday.

An alien may acquire citizenship only upon strict compliance with the requirements that Congress has established by statute. INS v. Pangilinan, 486 U.S. 876, 884 (1988). Congress has provided that only a citizen parent may apply for a child's naturalization under § 322. INA § 322(a) 8 U.S.C. 1433(a).

8 C.F.R. 341.2(c) provides that the burden of proof shall be on the claimant to establish the claimed citizenship by a preponderance of the evidence. The applicant has failed to provide that evidence. Therefore, the appeal will be dismissed.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
